

PRESS RELEASE

Genas, July 22, 2024: CLAYENS Group announces the completion of its acquisition of SAIMAP VIENNOT, strengthening its position in the processing of high-performance polymers and composites.

Founded in 1958, SAIMAP VIENNOT is a renowned French industrial company based in Saint-Lubin-des-Joncherets (Eure-et-Loir). Specialized in the manufacture of technical parts and assemblies in high-performance polymer materials by machining, injection and compression, it mainly serves the aerospace, defense and energy industries. Under the management of Michel Barbut, SAIMAP VIENNOT has consolidated its position thanks to recognized industrial expertise and know-how. The company employs 46 people and generates sales of nearly 13 million euros.

Based in Genas (Rhône), the CLAYENS group is a leader in polymer and composite processing. CLAYENS works with customers all over the world to provide them with the customized products and services they need for a wide range of industries: aeronautics, automotive, healthcare, electrical & infrastructure, industry & equipment. The CLAYENS group employs 5,000 people in 30 plants in Europe, North Africa, the United States and Mexico, with sales of around €650 million.

The acquisition of SAIMAP VIENNOT enables CLAYENS to extend and strengthen its expertise in technical and complex products in small and medium production runs, aimed at leading-edge industrial sectors such as aerospace and defense. This operation bears witness to CLAYENS' determination to make this sector a strategic axis of development, drawing on its French subsidiaries AIP and PIT as well as its American sites in Atlanta (Georgia) and Rockford (Illinois).

Eric Pisani, CEO of CLAYENS : “We are delighted to welcome the SAIMAP VIENNOT employees to CLAYENS, with whom we share common values and a passion for our businesses. This merger will enable us to consolidate our position in the aeronautical supply chain, a market in the throes of rapid change, and to strengthen the momentum initiated by the group several years ago. The complementary nature of our activities and skills will be a major asset in meeting the challenges of tomorrow.”

Press contact: Clémence SIMON – clemence.simon@clayens.com